

EXERCISE 37-2 Quotation marks Before working this exercise, read section 37 in Rules for Writers, Fifth Edition.

---

Change each indirect quotation into a direct quotation, using correct punctuation and deleting or changing words as necessary. Example:

The doctor told them not to look for miracles.

The doctor said, "Do not look for miracles."

---

---

1. The doctor added that in all probability their son would never see again.

---

---

2. Mr. Braille exclaimed that he had seen blind students at the institute making their own clothes and shoes.

---

---

3. The inventor of the military raised-dot system of writing told Louis to experiment all he wished but not to set his hopes too high.

---

---

4. When his old friends in the village saw him with his stylus and paper, they asked him if he was still punching away at it.

---

---

5. Louis asked the government official if he was blind and if he understood what it was like not to see.

---

---